

Ethical challenges in digitalised healthcare systems and big data

Workshop

07.10.2021 | 14:00 – 16:00 (CEST) via Zoom

Ethical challenges in digitalised healthcare systems and big data

07.10.2021| 14:00 – 16:00 (CEST)

Online via Zoom, in English.

Please request link here:

verena.lippert@med.uni-augsburg.de

Trust and empathy in a digitalised healthcare system

Dr Angeliki Kerasidou is Associate Professor at the Ethox Centre and Senior Fellow at the Nuffield Department of Population Health, University of Oxford. She is also Fellow at the Wellcome Centre for Ethics and Humanities and at Reuben College, Oxford, where she is co-leader of the Ethics and Values theme.

Artificial intelligence and digitalised diagnosis: what are the issues

Nina Hallowell is Professor of social and ethical aspects of genomics at the Wellcome Centre for Ethics and Humanities at the University of Oxford.

Commentary

Dr Philipp Kellmeyer is a neurologist at the University Medical Center Freiburg where he heads the Neuroethics & AI Ethics Lab at the Department of Neurosurgery.

Organisers:

Ruth Horn, Verina Wild & META research group – Ethics of Medicine – University of Augsburg

More information:

www.uni-augsburg.de/de/fakultaet/med/profs/professur-fur-ethik-der-medizin/veranstaltungen/

Photo credit: private